

Wall Street Market Irregular and Nervous, With Strong Tendency to Higher Prices

NEW YORK STOCKS SHOW STRONG, BUT MARKET SEEMS VERY UNSETTLED.

NEW YORK, March 7.—The stock market today is following about the same course which marked it in the closing days of last week. The tone of the market is fairly strong, pressure to sell is light, and while the general movement is upward it is very slow and uncertain.

At the opening today prices were mixed, many stocks showing fractional losses and others slight gains. Immediately some little buying power developed which carried the market slowly upward until some of the leaders had gained a point above the opening. In the rise Union Pacific sold up from 187 1/2 to 189, and before noon declined to 188. Reading gained more than a point in the early trading and lost a portion of the advance.

Labor troubles in Philadelphia and elsewhere are the all-absorbing topic, and the market is considerably influenced thereby. The news this morning that Samuel Gompers might, through the Federation of Labor, call out the railroad men in other cities, especially in Cleveland, Omaha, Pittsburgh, and San Francisco, in which cities it is said the Philadelphia Traction Company has large holdings of stock in the operating street railways, was received with much concern.

A dispatch from South Bethlehem, Pa., asserting that Charles M. Schwab has refused to deal with the strikers at the company plant, had a tendency to hold back purchases of Steel stocks. In his refusal to treat with the men Mr. Schwab takes the ground that no attention can be given to the strikers' demands because they do not emanate from men working in the plant.

Shorts Become Discouraged. Evidence is quite clear today that the market has a large short interest outstanding on which many of the bears are inclined to think it is impossible to realize under present market conditions, and the rise today in such stocks as Southern and Union Pacific may be attributed to short covering. The shorts do not seem to like the way the market responds to any buying either from outside commission houses or small covering operations.

Since the morning hour the market has pursued a sort of whip-saw course, up and down, with a tendency to remain at the top after each recession. For example, Smelters, which closed last Saturday at 8 1/2, opened at 8 1/2, sold up to 8 3/4, declined at 8 1/2, and has since rallied to 8 3/4.

Steel common closing at 85c on Saturday opened today at 85c, declined under the influence of the labor news to 84 1/2, and has again rallied to the high point of the day.

American Rubber has been one of the strongest stocks on the board, gaining on Saturday's close about three points. The advance is attributed to the excellent earnings of the company since the beginning of the year.

Reading this afternoon is close up to 17 1/2 and has gained about two points from the opening.

The market is so easily responsive to influences which send it in either direction that many traders are growing nervous over the situation, fearing that something unexpected will happen suddenly that will find them rapping. The market today has been more active than at the close of the week and is on the whole higher, but somewhat unsettled.

"UNIVERSAL TRANSFERS NOT CONSTITUTIONAL"

—General Harries.

Vice President and Treasurer of Washington Railway and Electric Company Appear Before House District Committee—Commissioners Also Present.

Mr. Ham furnished the committee a statement of the passengers handled by the two Washington street car companies during 1909. The Washington Railway and Electric Company, he said, handled 36,265,727 revenue passengers, and 25,508,153 transfer passengers, a total of 61,773,880. The Capital Traction Company handled 46,900,500 paid passengers and 16,892,516 transfer passengers, a total of 63,793,016. This showed, according to Mr. Ham, that there was a liberal use of the transfer system, more than 42,000,000 persons having been given transfers during the year by the two lines.

"The proposed compulsory free transfers between the two lines," he continued, "would work irreparable damage to the companies that have carried suburban lines for many years at a heavy loss. The Washington Railway and Electric Company, he declared, lost money on such lines as the Brightwood, Georgetown, and Tenleytown routes, the only justification for carrying them being the hope that the service developed in later years and that these lines would become remunerative. If these lines are given transfer privileges under the proposed transfer company," said Mr. Ham, "our company loses all benefit derived from these lines as feeders, and the amount we have spent in carrying them would be a loss."

Corporation Counsel Thomas has been asked to furnish the committee with his opinion concerning the Wiley bill at the earliest practicable moment.

TWO CANOEISTS DROWN.

HARRISBURG, Pa., March 7.—Edward Gerdes and Robert Shank, each aged eighteen years, were drowned in the Susquehanna river by the overturning of their canoe, which struck a hidden rock. Merl Gerdes, aged thirteen, who was also in the canoe, was rescued by a passerby, who plunged into the stream and brought him ashore.

PROSPECTS BRIGHT FOR NEW STATES

Prospects for Statehood legislation for Arizona and New Mexico brightened considerably when it was announced after a meeting of the Senate Committee on Territories that the Statehood measure would be voted upon next Friday. The expectation is that there will be a unanimous report in favor of the bill.

The bill has been considerably modified from the House measure. It retains the provision that the constitutional
